I don't know how should I write about myself. To begin with, I am Master in Organic Chemistry. I worked in Quality Assurance Department in a Pharmaceutical Company and then as a Quality Assurance Executive (Documentation) in a Construction Company. I always thought of working in a field where I can inspire others and to something for the world which we live in, hence I am undergoing a training to become a Science Teacher with specialization in Chemistry as teaching is the noblest job of all.

I like reading and that includes literature, fiction, biographies, inventions, travel documents. It helps me gain knowledge, ideas and share them as well. I like reading on all subjects as I believe no knowledge is waste, I can put it to use anytime in my life. I like gardening and animal keeping. I want to invest in horticulture, floriculture poultry and dairy. I like driving and have a liking to high speed cars.

Personally I am well planned, I like planning and setting my goals and objectives in whatever task I want to accomplish. I like keeping fit. I do weight training. I play football, tennis, table tennis, squash, badminton and squash. I enjoy swimming. I enjoy watching sports and athletics. Above all I like cycling, meditation and yoga.

Travelling is my best hobby. I enjoy hiking, trekking. I like different cultures after variety is the spice of life. I like trying various cuisines Mediterranean and Japanese being my favorite. I am a bad cook but I enjoy trying various cuisines. I like learning languages and I am learning Japanese now. I like visiting museums and historical places as I am very fascinated with history of mankind and how it shaped our present world.

While a kid I used to like painting, pottery. I learnt some of it in school in Arts subject. I don't do that now but I like visiting art galleries. While a kid I used to collect stamps, coins and currencies. I have given all of that my collection.

I enjoy all types of music. I enjoy watching movies and documentaries. I am an environmentalist. I am an active member of various environmental and conservation projects. Personally I don't like using plastics and I try to use them as little as I can. I am a strong supporter of renewable and conservable energy sources like solar and wind.

About my family: my dad is an entrepreneur. My mum is a fashion designer. My sister is a procurement manager and I am planning to be a teacher. My paternal grandfather was an entrepreneur. My maternal grandfather was a well renowned tailor (old days there was nothing called fashion designing I guess as I have seen him making master pieces but used to call him a tailor). Two of my maternal uncles are bankers. Two of my paternal aunts are chefs. Two of my aunts work with my mum in designing. My paternal uncle is an entrepreneur like my father.
