Hello,

I hope this letter finds you well. I am a [REDACTED] Brazilian. I am writing to you with a heart full of compassion and a genuine desire to help you in your journey towards building a loving family.

Growing up in a warm and affectionate household surrounded by a large and caring family, I learned firsthand the true value of family bonds. The love and support I received from my relatives have left a lasting impression on me. It was during a significant moment in my life when my partner's sister decided to become a single mother that I realized I could extend my support to others by becoming a sperm donor. It is my sincerest hope that through this decision, I can assist you in making your dream of having a loving family come true. While I do not identify as religious, I was raised in a Catholic family that instilled in me the values of respect and non-judgment towards others. Hard work and determination were emphasized as essential attributes to achieve one's goals, and these principles have shaped my life and career, making me the person I am today.

As a child, I was filled with curiosity and boundless energy. To channel my exuberance, my mother enrolled me in swimming, piano, and arts classes. Though the piano was never my true passion, I fell in love with swimming and pursued it from the age of 8 until 14.

Additionally, I explored my artistic side by painting on canvas during the same period. While I no longer paint, my love for swimming remains, as being in the water brings me immense joy and tranquillity. Later in life, I pursued higher education, graduating in Business Administration, and went on to work in the banking sector [REDACTED] in Brazil. Following that, I embarked on a journey abroad, living in the [REDACTED] to learn English, the [REDACTED] to prepare for my MBA, and the [REDACTED] to complete my MBA. I eventually returned to the United Kingdom, where I currently reside. Presently, I work for a Fintech company [REDACTED], managing a team of account managers facilitating online payments for businesses worldwide.

I consider myself a relaxed and easy-going individual, finding pleasure in traveling, spending time with my partner, family, and friends, and engaging socially at work. My commitment to leading a healthy lifestyle is evident through regular exercise, whether it's hitting the gym, practicing yoga, or swimming. I prioritize a balanced diet, often choosing organic and locally sourced foods. This conscious approach to wellness has contributed to my overall health, and I can proudly say that I rarely fall ill. My relationship with myself is one of self-love and acceptance, both physically and emotionally.

With sincerity in my heart, I genuinely hope that my contribution can bless you with a beautiful and healthy child, one who will bring immense love and fulfilment into your life. As your journey unfolds, I urge you to love your child unconditionally for who they are and provide the unwavering emotional support they will need throughout their life. Sending you love and warm wishes.

Hello there,

As I sit down to write this letter, you are not yet born, and it fills my heart with both excitement and anticipation. One day, when you turn 18 and read these words, I hope they convey the depth of my love and the dreams I hold for you.

First, let me tell you a bit about myself. I am a Brazilian. Family has been the cornerstone of my life, and growing up, I was fortunate to be surrounded by a loving and close-knit family. Their unwavering support and love have shaped the person I am today, and it is with this same love and support that I wish you to be welcome into this world.

My decision to be a part of your life through sperm donation came from a profound realization. I understood that I could help others build their families and become the same source of love and joy that my family was for me. As you embark on this journey of life, I hope you will cherish your family and the bonds you share with them. They will be your guiding stars, your comfort in times of trouble, and your biggest cheerleaders as you pursue your dreams.

While I may not know you personally, my deepest hope for you is that you grow up to be a person who embraces love, compassion, and respect for others. The world is vast and diverse, and as you explore it, I encourage you to be open-minded, empathetic, and kindhearted.

Embrace the differences you encounter and learn from them, for it is through understanding and accepting others that we find harmony and peace.

As you mature into adulthood, I wish for you to become a responsible citizen of this world. Respect and care for the environment, for it is our collective home. Take care of the communities you belong to and give back to society whenever you can. Small acts of kindness can make a significant impact, and I have no doubt that you will make a positive difference in the lives of others.

Remember, life is a journey of self-discovery, and you are bound to encounter challenges and triumphs along the way. Embrace both with courage and grace, for they will shape you into the remarkable person I believe you are designed to become.

Lastly, always love yourself for who you are, as you are unique and special. Embrace your strengths and acknowledge your weaknesses, for they make you beautifully human.

With all my love and best wishes for your future.
