Hi!

There is a prominent STAR WARS quote [redacted] that just sprang up in my mind. As good as the movie goes I much more prefer a bit more sophisticated sci-fi and fantasy, like Frank Herbert DUNE for example. Give it a read! Book wise continued I pretty much grew with Harry Potter alongside. The story character is almost as old as me and each book was released when I was his age. I am an atheist, believing in reason above superstition, yet still enjoying thinking about philosophy and how religion and beliefs shape humanity.

Education wise the story is complex. In high school I enjoyed biology and chemistry, with a skew towards ecology and environmental sciences. Then I came to UIC, where for couple of years I studied biology and [redacted] getting [redacted] degrees, only to then decide to [redacted] [redacted] to pursue an IT career. All due to economical factors I needed money to follow my travelling dreams.

For music I used to be a metal head, only then discovering joys of other kinds. My bands like TOOL, A PERFECT CIRCLE, AZAM AL-NAYAR, MARISSA NADLER, KAPPA & WSI NARSANA, KAI, CHILLY GONZALEZ to name a few.

Dark, wavy, blue eyes, medium build, dark blonde hair (but I used to dye it in various colours when going to music festivals), currently about shoulder length, however once I managed to get it to half inch length. It was a pain to comb, so pragmatic various tools used :)

I come from small but loving family. At the time of writing this letter you have a [REDACTED] cousin. I have only 1 brother. When it comes to personality I am a person of strong opinions and will to uphold them in conversations by using factual arguments. I have spent a good time thinking about my life attitude and to summarise I can say: CHERISH every moment of it. You are the only person who really knows what is inside your head. Rely on it and appreciate how unique your mindset is. This will keep you through good and bad times ahead. Periods of great relationships and relative imperfection.

Coming back to life topics, I prefer ethically sourced food, especially meat. I am not a vegetarian, yet I consume meat once a week. This way I can get it from local farms and see the conditions animals lived in; the ignorance about where food comes from, very noticeable in society these days, is a cause of concern.

I wonder how things are at the time you read this.

In my spare time I catch, usually on Saturdays [REDACTED] first rate playing and board games and also play darts.

My ideal career will provide me with means to follow my dreams.

Maybe one day I will find one that ticks both boxes. For now there is a life worth living!

Take care,

[REDACTED]
